PRESS RELEASE

Vocational Placement Cell under eVirtualGuru.com

Chandigarh, 03 August, 2015:- The Education Department, Chandigarh Administration, with a view to provide Job opportunities for the students of vocational courses / ITI, who have passed out from various Govt Institutions of Chandigarh has launched Vocational Placement Cell under eVirtualGuru.com today. Sh. Vijay Kumar Dev, IAS, Adviser to the Administrator, U.T Administration, inaugurated the Cell.

Sh. Sarvjit Singh, IAS, Education Secretary U.T. Administration and Sh. Kamlesh Kumar DPI Schools were present on the occasion. The project is to be run under the guidance of Education Department of U.T. Administration. The online vocational placement cell has also been added to this website for the convenience of students of vocational courses and ITI Students. It would work as a link between the students and the prospective employee's by providing the facility of smart learning and teaching. Students may register themselves by providing basic information in "Vocation Placement Student Registration form". Information provided by the students will be used to locate suitable placement and avenues in the related field and reputed companies may also call students as per their needs.

Speaking on the occasion Adviser to the Administrator, congratulated the computer teachers of Govt. Model Sr. School Sector-23/A and appreciated the effort made by them in bringing out this project for the students of the city.

The main objective of this website is to provide quality study material to all students (from 1st to 12th class of any board) irrespective of their background. This initiative would further boost the aims and objective of the Chandigarh being Smart City.
